Axxis is a free and open source POS tagging and keyword extraction software. POS tagging (part-of-speech tagging) is a text processing technology which determines the part of speech of a word. POS tagging uses Natural Language Processing (NLP) algorithms, which are able to recognize words and their corresponding parts of speech. POS tagging is widely used for various Natural Language Processing applications, such as text summarization, text-to-speech synthesis, translation and machine learning. Keyword extraction is an extremely important part of NLP. Usually, the NLP processing starts with keyword extraction, to which the full processing pipeline is then applied to the extracted text. Due to the nature of NLP, keyword extraction involves complex algorithms, which can require a large amount of computing power. When using a local engine, these algorithms may run on a limited set of files, but may not be suitable for a large set of files. For example, a local engine may not be able to handle either dictionary files or very large lexicons. Axxis was
